Hello Jennifer,
Generally the Agreements were designated as "shared" or "Partial Assignment" if the licenses/products/business was required by more than one entity, whether it was Brocade and one of more divested assets, or just by two or more divested assets.

With respect to the SNMP Research Agreement, on our end, we use SNMP Research's Emanate in "FOS" which is in all of our products. It's our SNMP agent.

If a call is still needed, please schedule some time for next week, including me and Simone. Monday between 1:30 and 4 looks pretty open in case that works for you both.

Thanks,

Thanks... is that what is meant by "shared"?

At this point, I don't know what to do.
The SNMP attorney wants to get on a call and discuss who is using the license for what.
Do you have any suggestions?

Hi Jennifer,
I believe that it is used in other product, which is why it was designated as Partial Assignment in the tracker.
Please request that the assignment be modified to a partial assignment, such that Brocade's (or any other assignee's) rights are not affected.
The assignment should make it clear that the assignment only addresses the list of products included in the assignment.

Hi Tyrene,
This is from John, outside counsel of SNMP.
Please let me know how we can wrap up.
Is this license still in use at Broadcom, or any of the other purchasing companies?

Jennifer,

This is the first I have heard about a partial assignment. If the SNMP Research software Brocade had is being used in other products besides the products listed in the transfer amendment we need to understand that. I will be glad to get on the phone with your contact from Brocade.

SNMP Research does not use Microsoft Word to prepare amendments. The document is written in a markup language called latex and the pdf is generated from that. The easiest approach is to write the suggested changes on the document or explain the changes in a separate document.

John,

I spoke with my contact at Brocade for signature, and she would like a word version.

Also, she believes the assignment should be partial.

Do you have any background on that?

Thanks for your help,
Jennifer

Yes, that is all we need executed. We will also need payment for the SSA. I noticed that the amendment you attached has some highlighting in it that should be removed before executing.

So, once you have the attached executed, we will be good to go.

Correct?

Sorry for the multiple queries, I'm just the messenger at this point.

Hi Jennifer,

Yes, the license transfer will be perpetual and will cover the versions that have already been delivered to Brocade.

The SSA provides support services for all versions. When the license transfer is complete and the SSA has been paid, we will ship the latest version to Extreme.

Thanks,

Steve
